Brief Overview of the Program

The Human Sciences Undergraduate Degree Program aims to cultivate self-motivated, reflective students who have a sophisticated knowledge base and the necessary practical skills to meet the challenges that they will face in our fast-changing, globalized world. At the same time, it aims to nurture students who have a well-defined area of expertise and who are able to bring workable solutions to a variety of problems and issues in their field. This exciting and innovative program was launched in October 2011 by the School of Human Sciences in collaboration with other schools, graduate schools, and research centers at Osaka University. In addition to providing an English language-based program that develops critical thinking and human science research skills (both qualitative and quantitative), it is also expected that students will develop a high-level proficiency in Japanese.

After taking shared foundation courses in the first three semesters, from the fourth semester, students will begin to take advanced courses that will help them build a profile for either the Global Citizenship or Contemporary Japan major. The Global Citizenship Major provides a learning environment in which students can acquire the necessary knowledge, skills and attitude for reflecting critically on and engaging positively with global issues. The Contemporary Japan Major provides students with a Japanese studies curriculum that encourages the development of informed, critical and multicultural perspectives on Japan, Japanese culture and its international relations in the world. Japanese language study will be compulsory in the freshman and sophomore years for both majors and optional thereafter. These two majors are not separate, but will be effectively integrated in order to nurture 'Glocal' actors who can think and act both locally and globally. Students do not have to choose a major until the fifth semester. Regardless of major, the degree awarded at the end is a Bachelor of Human Sciences.

Duration of Program (2018 cohort)

October 1st, 2018 to September 30th, 2022 (4 years)*

*For students who meet required academic criteria, accelerated graduation after three and half years is possible.

Student Intake

This program currently enrolls only a small number of students. This allows for intensive study and supervision.

Checking Eligibility to Apply

Due to Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology (MEXT) requirements, to be eligible to apply for this program you must be one of the following types of student by September 30th, 2018.

Criteria 1: An International applicant (defined here as a student applying from outside of Japan) who has completed a standard 12-year school education curriculum (primary, lower and upper secondary) in a country other than Japan. Including here, is an applicant who has completed a standard 12-year school education curriculum in a country outside Japan in less than 12 years as a result of being promoted up a grade ahead of his or her peers.

Criteria 2: An international applicant who is at least 18 years of age and who, while not completing all twelve years of their education in that particular country, has passed upper secondary school level examinations and therefore is considered to have reached the same academic level as a student who has completed the standard 12-year school education curriculum of that country and therefore is eligible to apply for university in that country.

Criteria 3: An international applicant who is at least 18 years of age, who has completed primary and secondary school education in line with the stipulations of that country or passed upper secondary school level examinations and therefore considered to have reached the same academic level as a student who has completed the standard primary and secondary school education curriculum of that country. However, because the qualification is not considered equivalent to a full 12 years in the Japanese system, applicants need to have completed a pre-university preparatory education course required for admission to Japanese universities as designated by MEXT.

Criteria 4: An international applicant who has completed a curriculum in a school that is considered to be the equivalent of high school (upper secondary) level and met the requirements stipulated by MEXT. The applicant should have completed at least 11 years of education in a country outside Japan at institution(s) that meet standards laid down by MEXT.

Criteria 5: A Japan-based applicant who is at least 18 years of age and who has completed a program of study in Japan at an educational institution offering the national curriculum of a foreign country and this curriculum would be considered to be equivalent to completion of a standard 12-year school curriculum under rules of that country's school education system. In other words, they would be eligible to apply to a university in that country as a result of completing said curriculum.

Criteria 6: A Japan-based applicant who is at least 18 years of age and who has completed a program of study at an educational institution offering the national curriculum of a foreign country and who would be considered to have reached the same academic level as a student who has completed the standard 12-year school education curriculum of that country and therefore eligible to apply for university in that country and, in addition to this, has completed a pre-university preparatory education course required for admission to Japanese universities as designated by MEXT.

Criteria 7: An applicant who is at least 18 years of age and who has obtained the International Baccalaureate Diploma awarded by the International Baccalaureate Organization.

Criteria 8: An applicant who is at least 18 years of age and who has obtained the Abitur issued by the Federal Republic of Germany for college entrance.

Criteria 9: An applicant who is at least 18 years of age and who has obtained the Baccalaureate Diploma issued by the French Republic for college entrance.

Criteria 10: An applicant who is at least 18 years of age and who has obtained the General Certificate of Advanced Level accredited as a qualification for admission to a university in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

Criteria 11: An applicant who is at least 18 years of age and who has completed the standard 12-year school curriculum at an accredited international school in Japan designated by MEXT. Recognized international accrediting agencies include WASC, ACSI, and CIS.

The eligibility requirements described above reflect Ministry of Education minimum requirements for submitting an application. You should bear in mind that Osaka University is one of the leading teaching and research university in Japan and the selection process for the Human Sciences International Undergraduate Degree Program is highly competitive. Successful applicants will be those who are among the most academically talented in their respective school systems. However, we do not only screen applicants on the basis of academic ability.

We consider each applicant holistically using all the information that is submitted to us.

We look for evidence of three things:

- a high level of academic ability and potential
- a high level of motivation for and fit with our program
- relevant non-cognitive skills such as good time management skills, self-discipline, ability to ask for help when needed etc.

If your application fails in any of these areas you will not make it through the screening so please consider carefully whether we are the right university and right program for you.

NOTE :

- If you have completed your studies at a non-accredited international school in Japan or you are unsure whether you are eligible to apply, please contact the HUS G30 Office as early as possible before applying.

3. Applicant has recently undertaken employment that has required English speaking, reading and writing for a period of not less than 24 months.

4) Results of standardized tests for university admission

Submit official scores of any standardized academic test for university entrance that you have taken. See the Appendix for details.

5) Personal statement

Explain your reasons for applying to our program and tell us what you think we ought to know about you to make an informed decision about your application. This personal statement is your chance to tell us what you would like us to know about yourself when we consider your application. Please word-process using double spacing and a 12-point font. Send the personal statement with the application form and supplementary documentation. Please ensure that your name appears on each page in the header. It should be no longer than 1,000 words.

6) Recommendation letters

We require that you submit recommendation from two recommenders (teachers, career counselor, or the head teacher.). Each recommender should complete a recommendation letter plus a recommendation cover sheet. The Recommendation Cover Sheet is in the application form. Write down your name, your date of birth and the date of graduation and provide it to your recommenders. Get two recommendation letters with the cover sheets in sealed envelopes. Send them along with other application documents. Please do not open the sealed documents, as doing so will make your documents unofficial.

7) Passport

Submit a copy of your passport. If you have two or more citizenship, please submit copies of all of them. If you have a Japan residence card (在留カード), please submit a copy of it as well. If you don't have a valid passport, submit a photocopy of another official certificate of your country such as a birth certificate or an official registry.

The Screening Process

Admissions decisions are based primarily on a comprehensive screening of submitted documentation (application form, your transcript, national standardized test result, English proficiency, a personal statement and two recommendation letters). We aim to gain a clear view of the applicant's academic achievement and potential, as well as their motivations and fit for the program. In this process we may need additional information or to clarify certain points. In such a case we would invite an applicant for an interview face-to-face at Osaka University or via an internet conferencing system.

The result of the screening (and the interview for interviewed applicants) will be announced by late March.

Successful applicants who have academic qualification in progress (e.g. IB and GCE A-level) and received a conditional letter of acceptance must submit the examination results as soon as they are available. Failure to meet any condition may affect your admission status.

Expenses Involved in Enrollment and Study

In most cases, successful applicants will need to bear the following expenses relating to enrollment and study: enrollment fee, tuition, travel costs, accommodation (rent and utilities), daily living expenses, national health insurance costs and miscellaneous expenses. To hold your place at Osaka University, a successful applicant must pay an enrollment fee in June. See the Osaka University website and the JASSO website for further details.

Economic Support

We expect a number of scholarship opportunities to become available for international students after enrollment. These are usually offered on the basis of academic performance to date. Students can also apply for tuition waivers. Students may become eligible for additional sources of support after enrolling in the program.

Accommodation Support

Students on this program are given priority for places in the university dormitory for the first year. These accommodation expenses, while heavily subsidized, have to be covered by the student.

Handling of Personal Information

Personal information, such as names and addresses, provided in the application form and submission documents will only be used in the selection process or for evaluation of this process.

APPENDIX

International and National Qualifications and Test Scores for University Admission

Instructions for students who will be taking international or national academic qualification that will not be available until after the January 12th, 2018 application deadline:

Where predicted scores are available (these are official predictions of subject and final scores put together by your school) these should be sent on to us in a sealed envelope.

Where possible, arrange for final results to be sent through from the examination center. Alternatively, submit a transcript of your score(s) when it (they) become(s) available.
